

FULL PULL WINES AWARDED RETAILER OF THE YEAR
AT THE 2015 WASHINGTON STATE WINE AWARDS

SEATTLE (Jan. 27, 2015) – Full Pull Wines has been awarded Retailer of the Year by the Washington Wine Commission, the company announced today.

The Commission presented the award, along with a custom goblet designed by glassblowing studio Art By Fire, at the 2015 Washington State Wine Awards, which took place Monday at Benaroya Hall in Seattle. Winners were selected from hundreds of nominations by a committee comprised of growers, wine producers and influential members of the Washington State wine industry.

This is the second year in a row that Full Pull has been honored by the Washington Wine Commission, after having been named Independent Retailer of the Year at the 2014 Awards.

“The winners of the Washington State Wine Awards perform a vital role in shaping Washington State as both a favored destination and a favored home for those who enjoy premium wines with superior quality,” said Steve Warner, President of Washington State Wine.

“I’m so pleased that the Commission continues to recognize retailers for our work supporting Washington wine. This is a tremendous honor for our team, our winery and distributor partners, and our list members,” Full Pull owner Paul Zitarelli said in accepting the award.

The award winners will be featured in a full-page ad in 10 key publications: Food & Wine, Elle Décor, Real Simple, Town & Country, Travel & Leisure, Seattle Met, Seattletimes.com, SIP Northwest, as well as the 2015 Washington State Wine Tour Guide.
